

ALAT Puzzle 3

Created with EclipseCrossword — www.eclipsecrossword.com

Across

- Period of conception to parturition.
- Strain that is achieved after a minimum of 20 generations of brother to sister or parent to offspring breedings
- Quarantine and isolation forms should operate on this kind of pressure.
- Period during which lab animal personnel perform health status evaluations and monitor new arrivals for any sign of disease.
- Where fermentation of roughage occurs in ruminants.
- This species and guinea pigs are most vulnerable to scurvy.
- PPE: Personal ____ Equipment
- Prolonged low relative humidity is related to this disease in rodents.
- There are 3 types of blood vessels: arteries, capillaries, and ____.
- 3 classifications of animals based on the type of food eaten are: Carnivores, Herbivores, and ____.

Down

- These vessels carry blood away from the heart.
- The other form of animal housing in research facilities other than conventional.
- Chemical that makes up genes.
- Where an animal saved for necropsy should be kept.
- Infectious bacteria, virus, fungi, or parasites posing a threat to humans and animals.
- Hand held instrument used to measure air flow.
- Carbohydrates, proteins, and fats provide energy in the form of this unit of measurement.
- Another name for fats.
- What is the most important nutrient?
- Units of genetic inheritance.
- What is the measure of the amount of moisture in the air called?
- Long chains of amino acids make up these.
- Polygamous mating system in which one male is housed with more than one female.